Government Moves Into Steel Strike

Ching To Meet
With Industry,
Union LeadersInformal Meetings
Slated; Thousands Of Jobs In Danger

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10 (AP)—The government is going to try and break up the steel strike deadlock.

United States Conciliator Director Cyrus Ching said today he is arranging informal meetings with leading steel companies and the striking CIO United Steelworkers.

It is the first peace move since the nationwide steel shutdown 10 days ago in a war over free pensions. The government made three futile efforts to settle the dispute before the walkout.

Ching already has moved into the four-week coal strike. He got United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis and mine operators to agree on talking contract again this week.

The steel action had been expected as strike effects spread.

No Immediate Reaction

But industry leader United States Steel Corporation, spearheading the labor fight with Steelworkers President Philip Murray, said it had not yet been notified of the government move. Comment was declined.

There also was no immediate reaction from union sources.

Both sides have held doggedly to their pre-strike positions—the union for free insurance and pensions recommended by a presidential board; the industry for welfare benefits with workers helping to foot the bill.

Ching's brief statement in Washington said he is arranging a schedule of "separate and informal conferences with representatives of the United Steelworkers of America."

Thousands Of Jobs In Danger

Ching added: "The purpose of these meetings will be to consider the impediments which exist to a prompt settlement of the steel industry dispute, and to ascertain in what ways the service might best contribute to such a settlement."

"The conferences will be held at mutually convenient dates and places, which will be announced to the press from time to time."

"In the interim, it should be understood that the service has been and will continue to be in frequent contact with the parties on both sides."

The big steel and coal strikes have endangered hundreds of thousands of jobs.

Bradwinners in scores of industries are working on borrowed time—with unemployment a sure thing if the walkouts last another week or 10 days.

Russia Recognizes
East German Regime

BERLIN, Oct. 10 (INS)—Russia officially recognized the new East German Communist government tonight and replaced its military administration with a civilian control group.

The Soviet satellites are expected to follow Moscow's lead in recognizing the puppet government.

Soviet Military Governor Vassili Chukov announced the recognition move was made because of the creation of a West German federal republic by the Western Allies. He reiterated the Kremlin's claim that the West German government was set up in violation of Big Four agreements on German unity.

Top Role, Johnson Tells AFL

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 10 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson pledged anew today that the Navy will continue to have an "essential and honorable role" in the nation's armed forces.

Johnson told concluding sessions of the American Federation of Labor convention that there is a "deep and growing appreciation for the job of the other fellow" by the Army, Navy and Air Force.

President Gives Congress Kindly
Pat On The HeadSummarizes Record
With Little Criticism

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—President Truman, who fought so bitterly with the Republican 80th Congress, gave the often-rebellious Democratic 81st a kindly pat on the head today.

The White House made public a 13-page mimeographed summary of what has happened to President Truman's requests for legislation.

As he handed it to newsmen, Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross said they would find it "a rather remarkable record of achievement."

The summary pointed a proud finger at enactment of much of the foreign affairs program the administration asked for, as well as for such things as a new rent control law and authority to reorganize the government.

But after a lot of the requests was the notation: "Pending."

Perhaps the harshest words were under the heading, "Repeal Taft-Hartley Act." There the White House summary said: "Passed Senate x x x in a form not in accord with the President's recommendations—pending in House Education and Labor Committee."

That has been perhaps Mr. Truman's biggest rebuff in this Congress.

Instead of accepting a bill to repeal the Taft-Hartley Act, the Senate accepted in its stead a bill which Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) wrote. It retains many features of the present law, including use of court injunctions in emergency strikes.

The House once voted for a bill somewhat similar to Taft's but then sent the whole issue back to its Labor Committee.

Generally, in the White House summary, there was no hint of criticism of this Congress.

It was a far cry from the speeches Mr. Truman was making a year ago about the 80th Congress. He called it the worst in history, later amended that to say it was only the second worst.

said, are learning to cooperate as a "united team." Johnson repeated a denial he made last June that there is any plan to "sink the Navy's air arm or reduce the Navy to a second class role."

The Defense Secretary said even though Russia now has learned the atomic secret he is "confident we still hold the lead" in weapons. That lead, however, he added, is not sufficient to "grow complacent" about but enough to be decisive if we continue the present pace.

The AFL delegates, before winding up their annual meeting, elected 76-year-old William Green to his 26th straight term as federation president. All other top AFL officers also were re-elected without opposition.

Tideland Oil Suit

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Andrew J. May, wartime chairman of the House Military Affairs Committee, was refused a Supreme Court review of his conviction on conspiracy and bribery charges today.

Attorneys for the 74-year-old May had contended that if his sentence of eight to 24 months in prison were carried out it would result in "the destruction of a fine public servant of stainless reputation (and) it may further result in his death."

The court also turned down pleas by Texas and Louisiana for dismissal of a suit in which the federal government seeks to establish its control over oil-rich submerged lands off their coasts.

The Justice Department is seeking a ruling similar to that which the court handed down in the case of California—that the federal government has paramount rights over the so-called tidelands.

In two brief orders the court gave Texas and Louisiana an additional 30 days in which to reply to the government suit.

After the formal session at which it disposed of these and other cases, the court listened to arguments on the validity of the Communist oath requirement of the Taft-Hartley Labor Act.

Unconstitutional CIO Says
CIO attorneys contended the provision is unconstitutional. It requires that union officials must sign non-Communist affidavits before their unions can employ the services of the National Labor Relations Board.

Solicitor General Philip B. Perlman, replying for the government, told the court Congress could have gone even further. He declared it would be within its rights to require such oaths of all union members.

The court remained silent today, its second session of the new term, on most of the important appeals awaiting its action.

Truman Ordered
Trial, Reds Claim

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—The defense charged today that President Truman, spiteful over the loss of Communist votes in 1948, ordered the trial of 11 top Red leaders.

Mr. Truman was not mentioned by name but Defense Attorney Harry Sacher called him "the big white father."

Sacher told the conspiracy trial jury in Federal Court that the Communists backed the Democratic Party in 1946.

However, in 1948, the Communist Party threw its support to Henry Wallace's Progressive Party.

"There was no prosecution in 1946," the attorney said. "There was no prosecution in 1947. But comes 1948, when the Communist Party announces that candidates of the Democratic Party no longer deserved the support of the progressive forces of the United States."

He said the 11 defendants were indicted just two days before the founding convention of the Progressive Party began in Philadelphia in 1948.

$3,000,000 World Fund
Loan Is Granted Tito

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The World Monetary Fund today provided $3,000,000 in United States currency for Yugoslavia, the first aid it has given to that country.

The action follows by a few weeks a $20,000,000 loan to that country by the United States and a United States government clearance for shipment of a $3,000,000 steel mill to Yugoslavia.

Those steps were aimed at bolstering Yugoslavia's Marshal Tito in his quarrel with Russia.

Big 4 Talks Resume

NEW YORK, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Big Four deputy foreign ministers met for four hours today to continue drafting an Austrian independence treaty.

An American source said after the session some progress was made but emphasized the talks were moving slowly.

Others Throughout
World Are Urged
To Follow Example

PARIS, Oct. 10 (AP)—Chinese diplomatic staff members here deserted to the Communist regime at Peiping today and called on Chinese diplomats throughout the world to follow their example.

George Mong, embassy counselor, announced that 11 diplomats—eight from the embassy and three from the consulate general—had walked out on Chiang Kai-Shek and the Kuomintang Nationalist government at Canton. He said this left only a sick ambassador, a chargé d'affaires and the consul general loyal to Canton, and that the rebels were taking charge of the embassy and its archives.

Other sources differed on the number of diplomats who deserted, however.

Dilemma For Ministry

The French Foreign Ministry said Charge D'Affaires Tuan Mao-Lan had informed it only six officials had switched loyalties. Later, in a communiqué issued through the French news agency, Tuan said only two Chinese officials had been dismissed for insubordination and everyone else was sticking loyally to his post. He could not be reached to clear up the conflicting accounts.

The development—the first of its kind in a major Chinese embassy—posed a dilemma to the French Foreign Ministry for several hours. Officials of the French Foreign Ministry's Asiatic Affairs section were particularly concerned by the threat of a rebel sit-in at the embassy. One course said they communicated with Washington and London to get the reaction there.

French Backing Ching

Finally, a spokesman for the ministry announced that it was backing up the Nationalists and was striking the desident Chinese off its diplomatic list.

So far as the French are concerned, the spokesman said, Tuan is still head of the Chinese mission here and in control of the embassy building. The ministry quoted Tuan as saying there had been no disturbance at the embassy and that he continued to occupy his offices.

The French difficulty arose from the fact that Paris still recognizes the Canton government. However, the Western Powers may eventually recognize the Peiping regime of Mao Tse-Tung. There already have been conversations on the question.

Maryland Wants $72,000 Country
Owes It Plus Interest, Lane Says

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The country owes Maryland $72,000, and Maryland wants its money back, Gov. William Preston Lane, Jr., said tonight.

She'd like to be paid with interest, the Free State Executive added. Lane smilingly resurrected the old debt in a speech prepared for delivery at the Washington Board of Trade's fall meeting.

He told about it before restating his belief "in the fundamental principles of states' rights and local self-government."

Seems the nation's capital was created "only because in 1791 we in Maryland ceded 60 square miles of our valuable and unblemished soil" and advanced the government $72,000.

Former Champions Congratulate The New

15,000 Greet Champions At Yuma Airport

YUMA, Ariz., Oct. 10 (AP)—Pilots Woody Jongeward and Bob Woodhouse brought their faltering "City of Yuma" in to a perfect landing today after setting a new world endurance mark of 46 days, 20 hours and 18 minutes.

Sheriff's deputies estimated the crowd which greeted the fliers at more than 15,000. The Arizona National Guard furnished an honor guard for the aviators as they walked unassisted from their plane to an automobile and from the automobile to the platform where they were received by Mayor W. J. Anderson.

As they brought their plane in for the landing, eight Navy Hellcats from Los Alamos, Calif., supplied an aerial band.

Among the first to greet the new champions were Dick Riedel and Bill Barris of Fullerton, Calif., the former title holders. Their record of 1,008 hours in the air, set last spring, was passed by the Yuma businessmen-aviators last Wednesday. Riedel and Barris flew here.

Riedel and Barris arrived in their record plane, "Sunkist Lady," at 3 p. m. (MST) today. Jongeward and Woodhouse landed at 3:33 p. m. (MST), ending 1,124 hours and 18 minutes of continuous flight.

A burned out magneto brought the decision to land.

Others who greeted the pilots on their return to earth were their wives, Betty Jongeward and Bertha Woodhouse, and their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jongeward and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Woodhouse.

Judge Orders Ad

Republican Signs

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 10 (AP)—A judge today ordered an advertising firm to display a Republican campaign poster although he said it is a "shocking example of bad taste."

The Republicans went to court after the Pittsburgh Outdoor Advertising Company refused to put up the posters on the ground they are "two gruesome."

The big signs show a terror-stricken little girl cowering in a corner as two sinister hands reach toward her menacingly. It says: "Make our homes and streets safe—vote Republican."

House Votes To Insist
On 58-Unit Air Force

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The House voted 305 to one today to insist that Congress supply money for a 58-group Air Force. The Senate has voted only enough money for 48 groups—the strength President Truman asked.

Representatives of the two branches reached a stalemate after more than a month's conferences aimed at compromising the differences.

Unless the Senate, which must act next, backs down, the big money bill will go back to conference again.

Airline Pilot's

Shot To DeathGun Found Near Body
Of His Mother-In-Law

PORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 10 (AP)—The entire family of a much-decorated airlines pilot was found shot to death today. Nearby lay the body of his mother-in-law, a pistol near her hand.

The dead:

Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Finch, 33; Penelope (Penny) Finch, 8; Richard Allan Finch, 7, and Mrs. Edith Walker, about 60, mother of Mrs. Finch, of San Antonio.

Mrs. Finch was the estranged wife of Richard Gordon Finch, 37, American Airlines pilot who during the war flew Air Transport Command planes on presidential missions to Tehran and Cairo.

Filed Suit For Divorce

Mrs. Finch filed suit for divorce September 16, charging "unkind, arbitrary and abusive treatment." Her attorney, Richard Walker, said when Mrs. Finch and her mother appeared at his office Friday the mother appeared "distracted."

Finch, on leave of absence because of ill health, was in Ann Arbor, Mich., visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Finch. The elder Finch, a professor at the University of Michigan, said his son was pretty badly broken up and was flying here immediately.

The bodies all were clad in sleeping clothes and lay in beds at the modest residence in suburban Oak View Addition. The grandmother, Mrs. Walker, was found in an east bedroom with a .22 caliber Colt automatic pistol about three inches from her hand.

Neighbor Discovers Deaths

Officers were unable to determine immediately when the deaths occurred. Homicide Detective A. C. Howerton said an inquest verdict will not be issued until after Finch arrives.

The boy's body was found in his bedroom. The mother and girl lay together in another bedroom.

The deaths were discovered by a neighbor, Mrs. T. C. Hukill, who usually drove the Finch children to school but was unable to arouse anyone this morning.

High Winds In Middle West
Boost Weather Deaths To 12

[By The Associated Press]

Winds howling across the Midwest at speeds up to 95 miles an hour spread heavy damage Monday and boosted weather deaths to at least 12. Damage in harvest fields was widespread.

In the East, however, the risk was heat prostration as October 10 mercury records fell like tennpins. Newark, N. J., had a sizzling 92.

The northeastern states were expected to get a somewhat weakened taste of the windy weather Tuesday.

In Minnesota, near the low pressure center, the winds were strongest. Speeds at Minneapolis were sustained 70 miles an hour during the afternoon, with gusts up to 95 miles an hour measured at Wold-

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Johnson said tonight the raging controversy over air war strategy can do "grave damage to our national security." He called on Congress to hear his side of the story.

Johnson fired a letter to Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.), of the House Armed Services Committee, at the close of a day's testimonial in which naval experts said that the Russians surely can detect and blast the Air Force's B-36 atom bomb carrier out of the sky. They also said the atom bomb is not as destructive as many persons think it is anyway.

Johnson challenged Rep. Vinson (D-Ga.), who has sharply criticized the Secretary's Navy fund outback methods, to call at once former President Herbert Hoover, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and others to testify in the House Armed Services Committee hearings.

Vinson, committee chairman, told a reporter after getting Johnson's letter that the Secretary will be called before the House committee. "We will call anybody who will help us out," Vinson said.

Vinson said he was not prepared to say about Hoover and the others Johnson named, or when the Secretary will get his turn.

The defense chief, apparently stung by digs during the hearings, fired a letter along with detailed information that Chairman Vinson had suggested the committee force Johnson to supply. He told Vinson that the same facts had already been sent to him last January.

The Secretary's letter arrived as the committee was already planning to call him for some explaining about the naval budget cuts as it bored into the Defense Department's argument over how to fight a war.

Johnson said the department wants to cooperate with Vinson "in order to assure that your hearings may be conducted in all the detail you deem desirable."

Johnson may have had in mind the committee's refusal to keep private the Navy's criticism of the Air Force's bombing ideas.

Johnson suggested to Vinson that he call at the earliest practicable date Hoover, Eisenhower, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff; Adm. Louis E. Denfeld, chief of naval operations; Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, and Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army chief of staff.

Naval Experts Testify

Appearing before the House Committee today, naval experts said that if war with Russia should come, the Russians would knock down a lot of B-36's and those that got through would waste atom bombs by not hitting close enough to targets.

Commander Eugene Tatom, naval air ordnance officer, indicated the a-bomb is not as destructive as many people believe.

In fact, Tatom said, a man about a mile and a quarter away from a burst wouldn't be seriously hurt.

Laborites Score Gains
In Norway's Election

OSLO, Norway, Oct. 10 (AP)—Initial scattered returns from today's parliamentary election showed the ruling Labor Party chalking up solid gains.

While it was too early to predict any outcome, spokesmen for the party expressed confidence they would not only keep their single seat majority but perhaps gain additional strength.

But it was heat, not wind, that plagued residents of the Great Lakes, Ohio Valley and Atlantic coastal areas.

The October heat wave hit Newark a second day with a record high mark. In addition to Monday's 92, Sunday's 84 was an all time top for the date. New York City's 87.6 was short of a record, but plenty warm.

Other records: Rochester, N. Y., 88; Philadelphia, 84; Buffalo, N. Y., and Quincy, Mass., 85; and Portland, Me., 81. The mercury reached 83 in Chicago before a slow decline set in.

Relief was expected by the week-end.

Political Squabbling Dismays Prize Student As He Watches U.N. At Work

By STANLEY JOHNSON

LAKE SUCCESS, Oct. 10. (AP)—Can you imagine Stalin and Truman meeting in New York to dedicate a building consecrated to world peace?

Robert Graham Wood, Liverpool, Eng., thinks it would be swell.

Wood is a slight, studious youth of 23 who won a United Nations essay contest and got a trip to New York for the General Assembly meeting as a prize.

He doesn't think such a Stalin-Truman meeting will happen anytime in the near future, but he does think the United Nations will never represent a united world until it could.

"If only the delegations, riddled with cynicism, could copy the inspiring cooperative attitudes of the little people working for the United Nations Organization, the whole world would change," he said in an interview.

His prize-winning essay was titled "The Implementation of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights."

Asked if he saw much implementation at the General Assembly or any marked concern for such rights by the various delegations, Wood only smiled and was completely non-committal.

Wood arrived in New York last month to spend 30 days as a guest of the United Nations. Then he goes back for more work at the University of Liverpool where he took his law degree in June.

In the meantime he is making friends with people from all over the world, exploring New York—"the Empire State building is wonderful, the subway terrible"—and worrying how to stretch the $10 a day the United Nations gives him to cover all the things he'd like to do.

Luckily for his finances, Wood said he is so busy sitting in on the United Nations committees, listening to the speeches of world figures in the General Assembly, and wearing himself out covering the vast spaces at headquarters that he has neither the time nor energy to spend much money.

The British student has only a qualified optimism about the United Nations' future.

"It will work if it lasts long enough," he said.

Wood is impressed by the organization's work in the social, economic and technical fields, but dismayed by political squabbling.

"The situation is incredible," he said. "Four years after the war's end we're still caught in a tremendous arms race and there's been no change in the Russian attitude."

"Or," he added thoughtfully, "in the British or the American." Wood's fear is that constant political bickering between East and West may end the United Nations' work in those social, economic and technical fields where he feels they have accomplished a great deal and will go on to do much more.

"In the long run, they're really the most important," he declared. Wood said he would return convinced that Britain is not wasting scarce dollar exchange in support of the United Nations.

"We should spend more, send more people over, and contribute more to the technical commissions," he said. "These investments are a lot more sensible than most of the things we do spend dollars for."

Property owners were asked to appear October 24 at 10 a. m. when an ordinance will be proposed for enactment for the sewerage or other improvement of Oldtown Road from its intersection with Laing's Lane to the intersection with an unnamed alley on the eastern boundary of Brookland Addition.

The council received and filed a letter from the Allegany County Board of Commissioners in which it was stated that the county would sell bonds when the city needed the money for flood work. The city had asked that the county make available now $500,000 of its $1,000,000 share in the work.

Appointments Made
Richard H. Smith was appointed a probationary member of the Fire Department effective October 16 and Robert Rosser was named substitute janitor for the Health Department during the two-week vacation of George Loeber. His salary will be based on a monthly pay of $154.

The council accepted the $1,089-30 bid of the Steina Motor Company for a six-cylinder coupe for the Health Department.

An application by William J. Cover to install underground storage tanks at 1304 River Avenue and at the corner of Potomac Street was referred to the fire chief and city engineer with power to act.

The council decided to advertise for bids for the blacktopping of Warren Street and Myrtle Street after residents of the two streets had presented a petition. Both streets are undergoing major repairs.

A water agreement between the city and the Standard Esso Company which seeks to tap into the city main on North Mechanic Street.

Flynn Approves

Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn told the council that Jenkins would be responsible "for anything that goes on there and under these circumstances I believe that the commissioner should relent and grant a license."

Commissioner Edgar Reynolds, asserting that "you can't legislate a man out of business, made the motion for approval with Mayor Post seconding.

The council approved an ordinance for the sewerage or other-

Strike Threatened By Truck Drivers

Officials of Local 453, Teamsters Union, AFL, said they will recommend a strike here Sunday at 6 p. m. unless a satisfactory agreement is reached with eight Cumberland trucking firms.

C. E. Stutzman, business agent, said following a fruitless joint meeting Saturday that the union is awaiting a new offer from the firms.

He said the companies have taken under advisement counter proposals made by the union. The contract covering some 100 drivers expired September 1 but was extended for contract talks.

City Approves Bus Service

Details for operation of bus service via Washington Street past the Court House were worked out yesterday at a meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Appearing at the meeting were Guy M. Davis, owner of the Cumberland Transit Lines, Emil Hasselberger, chief dispatcher and safety director for the lines, and Clifton E. Fuller, former city commissioner and petitioner.

Davis, it was said, will apply at once for a change of route and the service will begin upon approval.

The service, on 90 days trial, will be from Baltimore to Washington Street, to Lee Street and then to Greene Street, Hasselberger said. Buses will be hourly.

Commissioner William H. Buchholz said that negotiations with Mrs. Irene M. Kams, 203 Wilmont Street, owner of property needed to open Kams Avenue, have failed.

He mentioned that an attempt be made to settle the dispute with Mrs. Kams' attorney, and if failing, proceed with condemnation of the property. The motion was approved.

Walter Parker, Virginia Avenue real estate man, appeared to ask the Mayor and Council if it was fair to have the tax free low cost housing project come here while property owners paid taxes and were forced to keep up their own property as well.

Parker said some of the property he owns was listed in the 361 deemed unfit in a survey here last week. Operating expenses hamper upkeep, he said.

One Complaint Found In Check Of 25 Clubs

Fulton Myers Post No. 153, American Legion, 66-72 North Mechanic Street, faces possible Allegany County Liquor Control Board action as the result of a routine inspection Sunday night.

Chief R. Emmett Flynn reported yesterday that letters explaining the inspection will be sent to the Liquor Board, Associate Judge George Henderson and State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

At least 25 other fraternal, veteran and social clubs were checked Sunday between 5 and 8 p. m., but no violations were discovered. Twenty-one organizations were closed and members were found in the social rooms of the other four.

According to investigating officers, when they visited the negro Legion club, they observed several persons in the social room and heard voices in the bar.

When the barroom door was opened from the inside, the police found one man asleep at a table with a partially filled bottle of beer in front of him. He was intoxicated, authorities said.

Officers made no arrests but submitted a detailed report to Chief Flynn.

Other clubs visited were: Eagles, Amvets, Elks, Goodfellowship, Moose, Red Men, Maccabees, Navy, Cosmopolitan, Democratic, William Paca Garibaldi, Christopher Columbus, Republican, Oriental, Regal, Republican, Outdoor, City Shrine, South End Democratic, Fourth District Democratic, 40 and 8, American Legion, Owls, Purple Heart and Orioles.

Two local organizations, Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, and the Goodfellowship Club had their licenses suspended for two weeks each last week for alleged violations. Police said officers were denied admittance to rooms at the club quarters.

Sunday is so named because it was anciently dedicated to the sun.

The B. and O. will turn its array of historic and modern trains over to the West Virginia Northern at Tunnelton for transportation Thursday morning to Kingwood. The exhibit will be returned to Tunnelton next Sunday.

Buckwheat cakes, maple syrup and sausage will be served to an estimated 20,000 persons during the festival.

Employment Office To Move

The local offices of the Maryland Department of Employment Security will close Friday at 12:30 p. m. to allow equipment to be moved to new quarters in the old Footer Building, according to Patrick J. Carroll, office manager.

The new offices on the second floor of the section of the building adjacent to Howard Street will be open for use Monday, October 17, Carroll said. The Maryland Department of Employment Security has signed a five-year lease with the Merchant Mart, Inc., for the new offices.

The Woodman of the World Building has been used by the Employment Service and Unemployment Compensation Offices since 1944 and was leased for five years.

Due to tomorrow's being Columbus Day, a legal holiday, the offices will be closed. Persons reporting on Wednesday will have their benefit claims handled Thursday, Carroll said.

George Parker, an official of the Woodmen of the World, said the vacated first floor room would be utilized by the organization for social events but no definite plans have been made.

Great-Grandmother Of 75 Follows In Footsteps Of "Grandma" Moses

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Oct. 10 (INS)—A 75-year-old great-grandmother has followed in the artistic footsteps of the famous "Grandma" Moses by becoming a successful painter in her old age.

Mrs. Louise Holt, the widow of a poultry farmer, began painting last year just to keep busy in her spare time. Her canvases turned out so well that she has sold four of them to date.

Mrs. Holt started by decorating her grandfather's old sea chest with a picture of five ships under full sail. They were shown sailing into Five Harbors, Nova Scotia, her grandfather's home port.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

KEYNOTING your wardrobe, signalling your taste, making a first impression and an entrance every time you do—is your coat! For these reasons alone, even if coats weren't the most costly items in any wardrobe, they must be considered any woman's most important purchase.

But since coats are the most expensive clothes item, additional consideration must enter into their purchase. You want one that will give you the longest and hardest wear. You want a flexible coat that will go over and go with everything you wear and everywhere you go. And certainly it must be so becoming that you enjoy wearing it day in and day out.

Serviceability

Only the best fabric you can afford is good enough—and then only if it has a well-founded reputation for sturdiness. Some of the winter fabrics that are not only famous for durability but also currently fashionable are:

Tweeds, bold or subdued; worsteds, plain or patterned; meltons; deep-pile fleece, textured, ever-wearing duvety; and chinchilla, as indestructible now as it was in your childhood.

These fabrics are made up today in a variety of coat styles, but for all-purpose wear, choose the "pyramid" silhouette that has a narrow apex, gradually increasing into a wider hemline. This coat style is becoming to almost every woman, and it has gracious shoulders and armholes that are deep enough to accommodate the bulk of suits. It need be avoided only by the short woman—and then only when the perimeter of the hem is over-wide. It's good news this season that much of the exaggerated fullness in this type of coat has been eliminated by folding it into a deep tail-making, inverted pleat down the center back.

The Coat For You

The Powers Girls have discovered that it's a wise and economical step to watch and anticipate the fashion trends. Here's a list of some of the coat trends with notes on the figures to which they will be most becoming:

Big collars and cuffs for the tall-slim, tall-heavy and average figures; outside patch pockets for the tall-slim and the tall medium figures; pulled-in waistline for the slim-waisted, proportioned figure; figure; bloused backs for the slim-waisted, proportioned figure; fitted and flared when both the fit and the fur are in proportion to the figure.

Tomorrow: How do YOU remove your coat?

Bids are still being accepted for servicing the Star Route between Cumberland and Barton for the period from November 7 to June 30, 1953. Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon announced yesterday.

Henderson, Finan To Talk

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan and Associate Judge George Henderson will have a conference concerning the Grand Jury report last week in which suggestions were made for law enforcement in connection with clubs, slot machines and other gaming devices according to Commissioner of Police William V. Keegan.

Keegan told the Mayor and Council he was dissatisfied with the report and added that a suggestion that the city hire someone to deal with the problem would have to wait until after the conference.

Keegan did not say why hiring someone is necessary, but observers said he apparently was referring to a proposal to have an "undercover" officer look over the gambling situation here.

Judge Henderson noted in his report to the grand jury that bookies were operating rather openly in Cumberland and said the fact they do affects the morale and reputation of the police force.

defenses of the free world, knows that we have very little else. And at any rate, a deterrent is something.

On the other hand, it is difficult to forget that the world was once before confronted with a giant power, frankly aggressive in intention, and re-arming with all possible speed. On that occasion, Stanley Baldwin was the man whom the dilemma bleakly confronted. Baldwin chose to do only what it was convenient to do. Before long, the aggressor had achieved decisive strength. Fear begot weakness, and weakness begot the appeasement of Neville Chamberlain. But appeasement achieved nothing but shame. And the ultimate horror ensued.

Czechoslovak Purge Goes On

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 10 (AP)—The long arm of Czechoslovakia's purge-busy security police has reached once more into the army, reliable informants said tonight, and has jailed numerous officers on charges of high treason.

Other informants said 40 more Roman Catholic priests and nuns had been arrested on the nation's blistering church-state front. More than 300 are now said to be in Czech jails for opposing a proposed bill placing local Communist government control over all churches.

And on the "class warfare" front the roundup of thousands of "bourgeois" made up mostly of small businessmen and professionals, was reported to be continuing but on a diminishing scale.

(The British Foreign Office said it had reports 100 to 200 Czech government employees also had been arrested in the last nine days.)

None of these waves of arrest—the months-long seizures of Roman Catholic clergy, the army's treason purge and the sweeping up of the middle class—has been officially reported in the Czech government-controlled press. But diplomats predicted that when the purge has been completed the government will announce it has liquidated a huge underground movement.

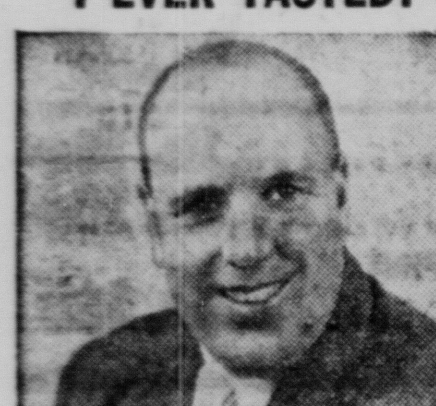

U. S. Agrees To Make Tariff Concessions

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The United States has agreed to make tariff concessions on approximately 44 per cent of its imports from 10 foreign countries in an effort to boost world trade, the State Department disclosed tonight.

In return, the foreign nations promised to reduce or maintain their present duties on about 45 per cent of their imports from the United States.

State Department officials cautioned that the full benefits of foreign concessions to the United States—in the form of expanded markets—will not be apparent for a considerable time. Most foreign nations have the right to restrict imports of American goods so as to conserve shrinking dollar reserves.

Education Pact Upheld By Court

BALTIMORE, Oct. 10 (AP)—Chief Judge W. Conwell Smith refused today to issue to a young negro woman an order that she be admitted as a student in the University of Maryland Nursing School.

In his ruling, Judge Conwell upheld the new regional compact of southern states, under which a student can obtain in another state courses not available to him in his own.

The 18-year-old girl, Esther McCready, Baltimore, had been offered training at Meharry Medical College, Nashville, Tenn., under the compact, instead of admission to the university.

Truman, Demo Leaders Differ On Farm Plan

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Senate digs into the controversial farm program again tomorrow, and apparently President Truman and the Democratic leadership are backing rival plans.

After a White House visit today, Rep. Cecil P. White (D-Calif.) said that Mr. Truman strongly favored 90 per cent parity price supports for basic crops.

But Sen. Lucas (D-Ill.), the Democratic leader in the Senate, has supported a bill by Sen. Anderson (D-NM), former secretary of the agriculture. The Anderson bill provides for a flexible price supports at 75 to 90 per cent of parity.

The masonry crashed through the roof of the three-story west wing, where the girl had a room. She suffered head cuts and a possible fracture of an ankle.

Action On Civilian Atom Defense Cracked

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—The Senate—House Atomic Committee called for action today on plans for civilian defense against possible atomic attack.

The committee told the Atomic Energy Commission to be ready next week to tell publicly what has been done toward meeting any threat of a-bombs in foreign hands.

Sen. McMahon (D-Conn.), who heads the Senate-House group, said members want to get before the public as quickly as possible all the facts that can be told about what to do in the case of an atomic attack.

Vaughan Shakes Off Shower Of Criticism

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan shook off the shower of criticism he got from the Senate's five per cent inquiry with the comment today that "the only two people I have to please are Mr. Truman and Mrs. Vaughan."

The President's Army aide spoke at a luncheon given for him by a group of veterans. He said he already has made some suggestions as to what his critics can do, and added:

"You can interpolate your interpretations as to what those suggestions were."

Vaughan said also that "I'm considered in many circles to be unethical, and I'm sure I'll continue to be." He added that he will continue to work for the benefit of veterans.

Congress Scheduled To Adjourn Saturday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 10 (AP)—Congress, which has been on the job for more than nine months, hoped to wind up Saturday.

Democratic congressional leaders passed the word along to President Truman officially today.

After the White House conference, House Speaker Rayburn (Tex.) reminded reporters that the adjournment date depends on the Senate.

The House has been anxious to go home for weeks, but has had to wait for the slower moving Senate to talk its way through a backlog of bills.

Thus, he contended, atom bombing takes precision work and here is where the B-36 can't produce at its 40,000 feet altitude deep in enemy territory.

Lt. Comdr. E. W. Harrison, naval electronics expert, said that the B-36 would be the "best possible radar target" day or night, particularly in high latitudes such as Moscow.

LAST FRIDAY a young fellow came in to see me, and from the way he walked I could tell he had an artificial leg.

"I'm a press agent," he said, "and I've got a good story for your column."

"Whom do you represent?"

"As yet, I haven't any clients," said the young man. "A year ago

I lost a leg in an auto accident, and I haven't been able to get a job since. So, I've decided to go into business for myself and if I can say I cracked a syndicated column, maybe I can land a couple of accounts on the strength of it. Particularly if I can persuade you to do a yarn about an industrial outfit."

Dr. Edwards' Offers COMPLETE RELIEF from CONSTIPATION

the clogging, TRANSIENT kind! For years Dr. Edwards relieved patients bothered from constipation and its bad breath, sallow skin, lack of pep, with his Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—now sold at all drug stores. Olive Tablets are all vegetable. They act so gently yet thoroughly on both upper and lower bowels, giving more natural-like movements—complete satisfaction! 15¢, 30¢, 60¢.

"You mean you've just picked a concern out of the phone book and want me to plug it?" I said.

"Not exactly," said my visitor. "The firm I'd like you to write a column about is the Spray-A-Wave Company of Chicago. It puts out a hair-wave preparation, and what makes it newsworthy is that most of its employees are blind, deaf, minus an arm or leg, or polio victims."

"Keep talking," I said.

"The story is timely for a lot of reasons," said the young fellow. "For one thing, by Presidential proclamation this is National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week."

"Good old Harry S.," I said. "Anything to influence a couple of hundred thousand votes?"

"You're a little off on your figures," said the fellow. "There are twenty three million people in this country who are partially or totally disabled. Seven million are mental cases, five million are children and six million have jobs. That leaves five million out of work who are having a tough time hanging onto their self-respect. Mr. John says half of them could hold down positions in industry if industry would give them a chance."

"Who in the name of the five Ringlings is Mr. John?" I asked.

"President of Spray-A-Wave," I said the young man. "But before I tell you about him, let me brief you on George Barr, the company's general manager. Barr, a chemist, lost a leg thirteen years ago and, after getting the usual run-around in employment agencies, decided to hire himself. He developed a new formula for a hair-wave preparation, and for a couple of years made it at night and sold it in the daytime to beauty shops and drug stores."

"When he needed additional help, he decided to hire people who, like himself, had been written off as unemployable. He was careful to match up job and worker, and soon found the handicapped could do certain types of work even better than ordinary folks. For example, the blind, who have been forced to use their fingers for eyes, are usually more proficient at delicate handwork than sighted people; those who use crutches develop stronger arms and shoulders and can feed a heavy machine without tiring as quickly; the deaf, as a rule, have unusual powers of concentration and give a good account of themselves when it comes to checking and inspection work. And so on."

"After Pearl Harbor, the company, by then a five-million-dollar-a-year proposition, switched over to war work and its production record was so good it was awarded the Army-Navy 'E.' A soldier who had lost a leg at Anzio presented the blue-and-white banner to a girl who was minus an arm, and a blind employee made the speech of acceptance which was translated into sign language for the benefit of the deaf mutes."

"After the war, the concern reorganized and George Barr appointed himself plant manager and turned over the presidency to a six-footer who was all in one piece. Naturally, the employees didn't cotton to the newcomer at first, but when they found he knew a lot about their problems they took him into the lodge as the saying goes, and nicknamed him Mr. John."

"As of today, the business is ticking along like the stately clock in Cole Porter's song. Its labor turnover is less than one per cent, absenteeism half of that, and production per worker about the highest in the industry. And as for the safety record, well, it couldn't be much better—people who have had one bad accident aren't hankering for another."

"Your yarn about Spray-A-Wave would make a good column if it had a finish," I said.

"It has an excellent one," said my visitor. "The fellow I've been calling Mr. John is the youngest son of a man who suffered from a serious physical disability—Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

Movie actors like to be guest stars on radio shows.

Yes, sir, and Lex Barker, the new Tarzan, thinks that radio is the greatest form of publicity for any actor.

Of course, when Lex does a guest stop on a radio show he has one reservation. He refuses to wear a leopard skin and swing into the studio on a low hanging microphone.

But I love having movie stars on my radio show because they give it that certain something that's so hard to describe. Then, every couple of weeks the sponsor makes me use men guest stars, too.

Naturally, every guest actor wants a script he can really sink his teeth into. That's why we used a 50 page script the week our guest star was Mortimer Snerd.

One thing I noticed is that there's always a personality conflict between the guest star and me over one unimportant little item. It's like the conflict between the government and the people on March 15th.

We keep telling them that friend-doesn't help. They just stand there, my money belt.

Meet Don Clark— Another

"Do-it-yourself" American

Today he's his own boss!

Donald M. Clark of Dover, Delaware, doesn't believe anything need stop a man from making a go of what he wants to do! Three years ago he combined the two things he liked best—flying and farming—and set up for himself one of the first aerial crop-dusting services in Delaware. Savings from Army pay bought the first plane. Now through profits he has six planes, flown by fellow Air Force vets. So Don's "Flying Flit-Gun Squadron" is paying off... at the age of 25 he's his own boss... and he did it on his own!

★ It's the American Spirit!

YOUR OWN MAIN STREET, too, has its Don Clarks. They're the folks who find their own "new frontiers" to develop, who carve out their own futures. They wouldn't have it any other way!

Yes, the "do-it-yourself spirit" is still as strong in America as ever. One proof: 78 million people are holders of life insurance. They hold it because they want to take care of their own on their own... to put children through college... for retirement... for financial emergencies.

Through life insurance they can achieve these things which so many Americans want. So the life insurance business has grown to match their needs. With more than 150,000 trained agents throughout the country, 584 separate life insurance companies compete aggressively to help Americans help themselves!

It's a Fact...

It's a fact that the service of the life insurance agent is essential... because:

- Families have different incomes, different numbers of children. Some want maximum protection now, some want to assure a college education for their children, some want to plan for retirement...
- Life insurance companies are constantly developing new kinds and combinations of policies to meet these and other individual needs.
- It takes the experience that only the trained agent has to help you plan your insurance so as to accomplish what you want.

Today more than 150,000 life insurance agents are qualified through training to help the people of America get the most out of their life insurance.

To make sure that you have a life insurance plan best suited to your present family needs, consult your own agent. Life insurance is a service! And the help of your agent's skill and training is yours for the asking. The Institute of Life Insurance—central source of information—60 E. 42nd St., New York 17, N. Y.

Dapper Dan Benefit Boxing Show Slated For Monday

Whitney Martin's SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (AP)—The Old Professor was a little early as he ambled into the classroom. A preamble, you might call it. The place was practically deserted. Only two members of the Monday morning class of football coaches were there, shuffling their feet impatiently.

Old Professor — Good Morning, gentlemen. Yes, I know, I know. There were quite a few here last week when I was unavoidably detained. The world series, you know, I picked the Dodgers. What I should have said was that I'd pick them up when the Yankees got through knocking them down.

Anyway, next week we'll expect a banner attendance. It was nice of you gentlemen to show up, and I won't keep you long, Mr. Sauer, you have quite a winning streak going, don't you? Two straight, isn't it?

George Sauer, Navy—Yes, sir. It never ceases to amaze me how these Navy kids can get kicked around in the first quarter as Duke did to them Saturday, and then fight back to win. Many clubs would have folded under similar conditions. Our line played from the second quarter on spelled the difference. I'm proud of the kids.

Wallace Wade, Duke—that's a fine Navy team, Professor. It played a marvelous game and deserves the greatest of praise. That Bob Zastrow is an excellent ball player.

Old Professor—Spoken as a real gentleman and a good loser, Mr. Wade. I'm a little behind on just what has been going on in the football world, but I have noticed that the cream already has started to rise, the wheat is being separated from the chaff, the corn from the cobs and all that sort of thing.

What do you think of Army, Mr. Sauer? Pretty sharp, eh? Looks like trouble ahead for your Midies, and I have an idea you'll get a chance to knock off an unbeaten and untied team when you do meet the Cadets. Can't see who else is going to stop them, now that they've got by Michigan. You might do it, though. I've seen Navy underdogs against Army before.

No surprise to see Notre Dame up there among the better teams, is it? You can put them over there year after year because the seasons start, and you won't go wrong.

It's too bad some of these better teams don't meet. Take Oklahoma and Minnesota, for instance. I have an idea seismographs would be recording earthquakes all over if those two titans were to collide. I don't know who will stop Oklahoma now. Minnesota has some toughies left, though, including Ohio State and Michigan. Maybe Pittsburgh, too. The Panthers are beginning to claw again.

We'll find out a little more about Tulane this week. Or maybe we should say we'll find out a little more about Notre Dame. Those two teams meet, and I have an idea it's going to be close.

Notre Dame, in fact, is in a position to do a lot to straighten out the national picture before the season ends, as it will meet several teams which right now are riding very high. Tulane for one, of course, and North Carolina, and Southern California, and Southern Methodist.

Southern Cal, though, has its hands full this week with California, another high rider, and a week from Saturday Southern Methodist takes on Kentucky, so maybe the picture will be straightened out somewhat before Notre Dame gets around to it.

I didn't mean to keep you gentlemen while I was doing a little musing. I realize it is not a first hand report on the situation next week. Good day, and thank you for being present.

Shotton Panned For Dodgers' Poor Showing

Stengel May Get Raise From Yanks

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Oct. 10. (AP)—The winning Yankees and the losing Dodgers began scattering for their homes today to await fall world series checks from Commissioner Chandler. Yankee officials also began the painful task of returning some $700,000 to fans who bought tickets to unplayed sixth and seventh games at the Stadium.

Although exact figures will not be known for several weeks, it is estimated that each full-share Yankee will receive close to $5,800 for the part he played in humbling the National Leaguers, and that each Brook will be saved to the extent of $4,100.

Ill Health Reported

The happy Yanks, who survived everything except fire and flood in their limping progress toward a 12th world championship, held a colossal victory celebration last night. Manager Casey Stengel contradicted a report that he might not be back next year because of ill health.

"Nothing to it," said Old Case. "Why I'm so healthy that I'm the only guy on the club who hasn't had a doctor all year."

Casey is working on a two-year contract calling for $40,000 per season. It would cause no surprise if co-owner Dan Topping and Del Webb should tear that one up and reward their hand-picked pilot with another reading, say, $60,000 a year.

Naturally, most of today's second-guessing was directed at Burt Shotton, Brooklyn's 65-year-old guiding hand. The opinion is not unanimous that Burt will be back.

Shotton Faulted

Loss of the playoff in five games, and especially the final sad rout of his strong-arm young pitchers by a Yankee club of only moderate power, could only have been a sharp blow to President Branch Rickey, who in the spring called the Dodgers "the greatest team I ever put together."

Brooklyn fans, looking back at the massacre, faulted Shotton on numerous counts, but first and foremost for his kindness in permitting third Ralph Brancaccio to pitch to left-handed Johnny Mize in the ninth inning of the third game.

That undoubtedly was the turning point of the series. Mize's two-run smash off the right wall, followed by Gerry Coleman's hit to clinch the victory, finally broke the play-off open after nearly three full games of phenomenal pitching.

From there on, the Brooklyn throwers simply didn't have it. Even the remarkable Joe DiMaggio, who could beat only one questionable hit in the first four games, found the Dodger pitching a pleasure yesterday and would have had two extra-base hits, besides his home run, but for sensational catches by Duke Snider in center field.

The same Snider, by his awful ineptness at the plate in the first four games, brought another show of criticism down on Shotton's gray dome. Besides tying a world series record by striking out eight times, the luckless rookie hit into a tragic double play in the midst of a seven-hit, four-run Brooklyn rally in the fourth game.

Shotton's detractors said he blundered badly in permitting the scared rookie to hit in the important third slot in the Dodger batting order. Shotton's defenders were just as certain the manager had no choice but to go along with Snider and hope for the best once it became obvious that Carl Furillo, the team's second best clubber, was injured too badly to be of any help.

But Snider was not the only Dodger to fall in the clutches. The play-off brought out a striking weakness in the Brooklyn bench. Of nine pinch-hitters sent in by Shotton, five struck out—three of them in succession in the last game.

Charles Defends Title Against Valentino

NEW YORK, Oct. 9. (AP)—Ezzard Charles risks his NBA heavyweight crown for the second time Friday night when he meets Pat Valentino in a 15-round title clash in San Francisco.

Charles, who stopped Gus Lesnevich in seven rounds in his first defense last August, is a prohibitive favorite to whip the California state champion.

The longhaired Valentino hasn't fought since he captured his state's championship by whipping Turkey Thompson in a 15-rounder last December.

In another outstanding Friday bout, Kid Gavilan, the Cuban welterweight flash, faces Beau Jack, the former lightweight titleholder, in a ten rounder at the Chicago Stadium.

Hialeah race track's clubhouse drive is lined with 24 of the tallest matched royal palm trees which could be found in the Everglades.

In Memoriam

Mrs. Mary Jane Ross, wife of Samuel L. Ross, Westport, died one year ago, October 21, 1948.

When evening shades are falling,
And we are sitting all alone,
In our hearts there's a longing,
If you only could come home.
Oh, and off our thoughts do wander,
To your grave so far away,
Where we laid you, dear Mary Jane,
One year ago today.

Signed
Samuel L. Ross

Arbitration Is Slated For Two Kelly Disputes

Solution Is Sought For Curing Case

Two disputes between Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastic Workers of America (CIO) and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will be submitted to arbitration and a satisfactory solution is being sought for a third, R. C. Burkhardt, union president, announced yesterday.

He said Jacob J. Blair, Pittsburgh, umpire, has set a tentative date of November 10 at 10 a. m. at the plant conference room for hearings on the first two grievances.

The first dispute involves the filling of a vacancy in the tube department. The union contends that Vangel Spencer, who was furloughed, should have filled a vacancy which existed but was filled by a member of a balance crew.

The second, in Department 51-D, the curing department, concerns Marshall Elbin, who was removed from a temporary vacancy which the union contends still exists since the man entitled to the job is on sick leave.

The union, with the assistance of Paul Weiker, District 3 field representative, is trying to work out a satisfactory solution to the third grievance which is in the curing department.

Burkhardt said the dispute involves a piece-work rate and work loads on McNeill curing presses.

The dispute arose when the company went from a 35 minute cure to a 25 minute cure and requested that the men cure an additional number of tires which the firm contends the time cycle will allow.

Union officials said certain points in the grievance are based on the union contention that the company has erred in the application of the contract.

A regular membership meeting of Local 26 will be held Saturday at 7:30 p. m. in the union hall. The schedule includes:

Report of delegates to the URCPLWA convention.

Report of delegates to the CIO Summer School at Tar Hollow.

The Executive Board's appointment of Harry E. Castle as vice president will be submitted for approval of the membership.

Dad's Day Held At Scout Camp

The annual Dad's Day of Cumberland District Scouts was held Saturday at Camp Potomac near Oldtown, and attended by some 150 scouts, cubs and their dads.

The program was in charge of Miles G. Thompson, district chairman, and Ross Decker, camping and activities chairman.

During the afternoon horseshoe pitching, water boiling and a softball throw contests were held, followed by a trail hike with cubs or scouts and their dads as a team.

The evening meal, in most cases, was prepared by scouts and dads as a team.

The day ended with a campfire program in charge of Vernon Adams, William Allee, Edgar Bucy and James Perry. Prizes for the afternoon contests were awarded at the campfire to:

Horseshoe pitching—O. B. Logsdon and Scout Eugene Weller, Troop 71, Ridgeley, Calvary Methodist Church, sponsor; Cub William Brown and Harold Brown, Johnson Heights PTA Pack 16.

Water boiling—Scout Cecil Horn and James Foley, Cub Troop 14, St. Patrick's Church; Everett Yankee and son, Everett Yankee Jr., Cumberland Rotary Cub Pack 21.

Ball throw—John Wagner and Scout Edwin Powelson, Troop 71, Ridgeley; Miles G. Thompson and Cub Richard Lewis, Penn Avenue PTA Pack 2.

Counselors Group To Meet Tonight

The Tri-State Counselors Association will hold its first fall meeting tonight at 7:30 at the Board of Education Building, Washington Street.

Plans will be made for a year's program of interest to guidance counselors in the fields of industry, business, military service, religious work and education.

Officers of the group are John O. Malden, psychology instructor at Potomac State School, Keyser, W. Va., president; Ernest A. Minka, guidance director at Fort Hill High School, vice president; and Miss Dorothy Byers, guidance director at Allegany High School, secretary-treasurer.

All persons interested in counseling work are invited to attend.

Furloughed B. And O. Machinist Makes Community Chest Donation

"I believe in the Community Chest," a furloughed Baltimore and Ohio Railroad machinist said yesterday as he handed Campaign Chairman Roy W. Eves a check for $10.

The man had come in for his last day after his furlough became effective Friday. Although he had been laid off, the machinist did not even want to wait and have his contribution deducted next January.

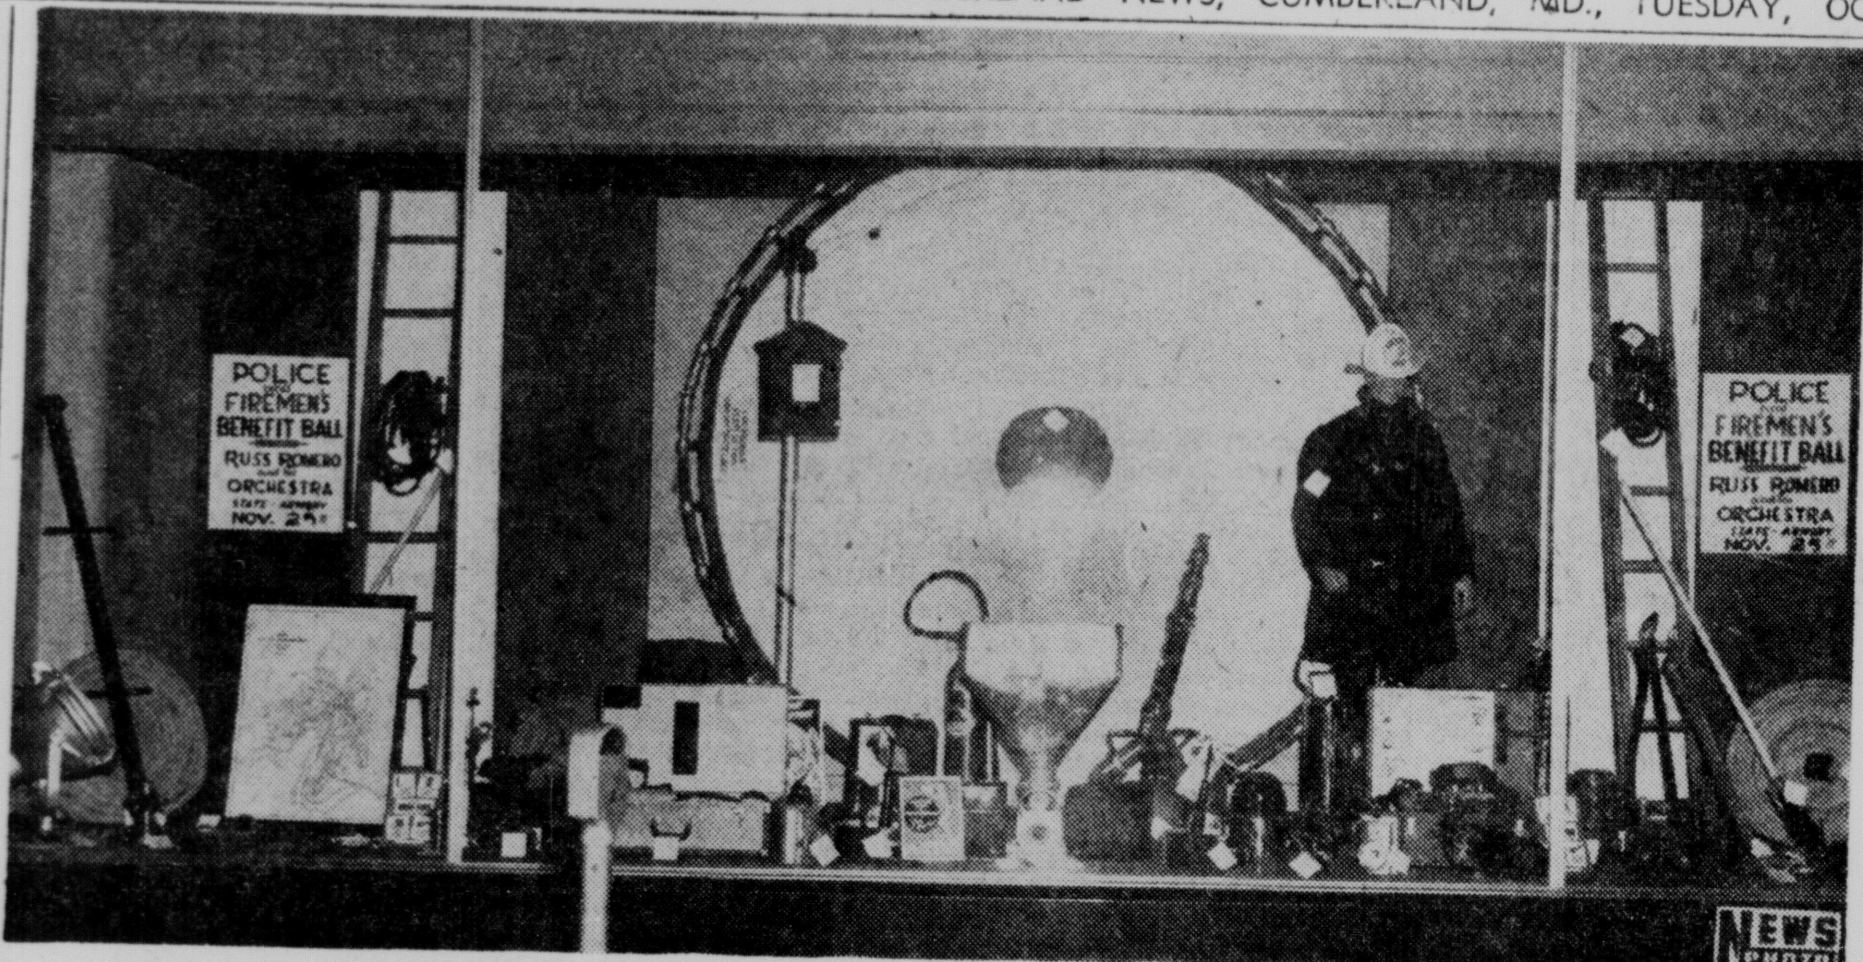

Three Cumberland firms have shown already that they believe in the Chest and its payroll deduction plan, Eves pointed out.

On a basis of ten cents a week for employees and one to three per cent of executive wages, the organizations have far exceeded their quotas.

With 20 subscriptions and a goal of $75, workers of the Home Beneficial Life Insurance Company have pledged $90.20. Ort Brothers Bakery's 70 subscriptions netted $364 with a goal of $250.

Eli Chevrolet Company reported $198 or almost twice their $100 goal. Twenty-two subscriptions were turned in from the firm.

Modern Fire-Fighting Equipment

Over 52 pieces of modern fire fighting equipment were furnished by the Cumberland Fire Department for the above display to mark the observance of Fire Prevention Week. The equipment was selected by Assistant Fire Chief William L. Lindner to display the chief tools of a fire fighter. All of the types of portable extinguishers, plus a foam generator can be seen in the exhibit. The department is putting on an active fire prevention campaign all this week.

Schools To Mark Education Week

Plans for the observance of American Education Week in Allegany County Schools November 6 to 12 were discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the supervisory staff of Allegany County Schools in the Board of Education office.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent, who presided, said all schools of the county will participate in the program which will be based on the theme, "Making Democracy Work."

The national program, he said, called for stressing of the following themes on each day of the week:

Sunday, "The Worth of the Individual"; Monday, "Educational Opportunity"; Tuesday, "Responsible Citizenship"; Wednesday, "Health and Safety"; Thursday, "Home and Community Obligations"; Friday, "Our Freedom and Security"; Saturday, "The Next Decade in Education."

Each school, he said, will work up an appropriate program for American Education Week.

The general observance will be in charge of the Board of Education staff.

Blackleg Not Deer Killer

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Oct. 10 (AP)—The mysterious illness that has been killing hundreds of deer in Western Maryland may not be blackleg.

At least, a report from L. J. Poelma, chief of the Livestock Sanitation Service Laboratory at the University of Maryland, said that the vital organs of the deer examined by them failed to show "anything of a disease-producing organism." He offered no theories as to the cause of death.

The animal examined by the laboratory was found September 24 on Warrior Mountain near Cumberland. It had been dead less than 24 hours and therefore was still in condition for the examination. All other carcasses found had been dead too long for the remains to be examined.

Several persons advanced the theory that the many deer were dying of blackleg, a disease usually associated with cattle.

Reports of deer dying in the state from the malady apparently have stopped as quickly as they started. There have been none reported since that time.

One Application Made For Recreation Post

City Clerk Wallace G. Ulery reported yesterday that one application has been made to date for a Civil Service examination to fill the newly created post of secretary to the city recreation director.

Fifteen applications have been made to take a test for the Police Department, Ulery said.

The examinations will be held at Fort Hill High School October 25. Application blanks are available in the city clerk's office at City Hall.

Housing Authority Appointments Delayed

Mayor Thomas S. Post said yesterday that appointment of the five-member Housing Authority for Cumberland has not been completed because some persons nominated are unable to serve.

The mayor said he hopes to have all appointments confirmed in time for the council's special payroll meeting Friday.

Fire Prevention Programs Begin In Schools Of City

A program of talks and sound movies in observance of Fire Prevention Week began yesterday in Cumberland schools, according to George M. Hitchcock, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee sponsoring the observance.

Meanwhile, Hitchcock announced that a miniature woodland exhibit to illustrate the ravages caused by forest fires will be placed in the former Kinney Shoe Store window at 43 Baltimore Street.

The display, prepared by Brook Bodkin, senior forest supervisor, was recently shown at the Cumberland and Hagerstown fairs, according to William A. Parr, district forester.

Hitchcock said the exhibit will go on display today for the remainder of the week, through co-operation of James Leader, manager of the Kinney Store, and Henry W. Price, district manager of the Potomac Edison Company, which is furnishing necessary electricity.

As a part of the educational program on fire prevention, Hitchcock and Richard L. Linthicum, pipeman at Central Fire Station, yesterday began visits to local schools.

A color sound film, "Why The Fire Alarm?" and a demonstration of the use of fire alarm boxes features the programs. In addition, a technical film on fire combustion, will be shown.

The latter film, used in training classes at the Naval Reserve Armory here, was secured through co-operation of Lt. Comdr. Charles B. Gray, inspector-instructor of the Cumberland Naval Reserve Division. Also being shown is a film on "Fire and Police Service."

Schools visited yesterday were East Side, SS. Peter and Paul, Ursuline Academy and Johnson Heights.

The schedule for the remainder of the week follows: Today—Centre Street, Humboldt, LaSalle and St. Patrick's. Tomorrow—Carver and West Side. Thursday—Fort Hill High School, Virginia Avenue and Penn Avenue. Friday—Mt. Royal, St. Mary's and Columbia Street.

Hitchcock said the educational program will have been presented before approximately 8,000 students by the end of this week.

Fire Chief John E. Brennan aided in the arrangements. Replica of a fire alarm box is being used in the demonstrations.

In addition, another window exhibit featuring fire fighting equipment is on display at Rosenbaum's Boy Scout Troop No. 1, sponsored by St. Luke's Lutheran Church, visited Central Fire Company last night.

They were taken on a tour of the station and heard fire officials explain the use of equipment and the technique of fire fighting.

Every boy of the troop, firemen said, knew how to turn in an alarm and knew the location of fire alarm boxes near his home.

Car Hits Children When Brakes Fail

Two Williams Road children escaped serious injury early Sunday afternoon when they were struck and knocked down by a car.

The children, Diane Baker, 6, and Tony Fresh, 5, were examined in Memorial Hospital.

Cpl. Harry Holsinger, who investigated, said the accident occurred at 12:50 p. m. on Williams Road near the City limits when the brakes on a car driven by Edgar William Smith, 18, Williams Road gave way.

He said Smith was summoned to Trial Magistrate Court Friday for a hearing on a charge of driving without an operator's license.

Weather

Sissies, it isn't really hot at all. What if you did have to get your cottons back out of storage rather quickly as the thermometer hit 88 yesterday? In former days, it's often reached past the 90 point. So often, in fact, the weatherman refused to compile figures on previous highs. However, the 60-degree low shows the autumn heat wave has broken a little. And, late last night the thermometer was back down to 68. But, don't get out that winter coat today. You won't need it, fair and warm are still the order of the day.

Local Firemen Make Four Runs

Four fires, all minor, kept firemen hopping yesterday as this city marked the second day of Fire Prevention Week.

South End Fire Company extinguished a grass fire on Bowen Street at 1:05 p. m. and West Side firemen were called to 119 South Smallwood Street at 5:06 p. m. when a roast in an oven burned.

Central Fire Company made two runs to Valley and Centre Streets at 2:55 p. m. when a short circuit developed in a car owned by Charles Flanagan, and at 3:40 p. m. to Centre Street when the Western Maryland bridge caught fire.

Barter Ticket Sale Is Heavy

Season tickets representing approximately one-third of the seating capacity of Allegany High School auditorium were sold yesterday for the four Barter Theatre shows to be presented during the coming months.

Capacity of the auditorium is about 1,100 seats.

However, there are "plenty of good seats left," according to Robert Little Ebert, president of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce.

The Jaycees are sponsoring the popular theatre group in their third series in Cumberland.

Tickets went on sale yesterday morning at Little's Jewelry Store.

Ebert emphasized that no advance sales were made prior to yesterday morning, and that tickets are being sold on a "first come, first served" basis.

Under a new Jaycee plan, patrons who purchase season tickets for the current Barter series will have preference in advance ticket sales next year, Ebert announced.

The theatrical group will make its first appearance this season on Thursday evening, October 20, with the presentation of "The Imaginary Invalid."

The second production, scheduled December 9, is "You Can't Take It With You." A production for February 21 will be selected later.

Barter's fourth and last show of the season will be George Kelly's "The Showoff," on April 21.

Missionary Rally Planned Tomorrow

A district rally of missionary societies in Allegany County and near-by Pennsylvania will be held tomorrow at the Evangelical United Brethren Church in Ellerslie.

Mrs. H. E. Dornhelm, Somerset, Pa., district president, will preside. Sessions are scheduled at 2:30 and 7:30 p. m.

Guest speaker will be Fred Walker, Tyrone, Pa., a returned missionary from Africa.

Columbus Day Will Be Observed Here

Allegany County Circuit Court House will be closed all day tomorrow in observance of Columbus Day. Banks and other institutions in the city will also be closed to business all day.

County Students Will See Films Of Sherwood Gardens

A colored film, "Maytime in Sherwood Gardens" which shows the beauty of the nationally famous Sherwood Gardens in Baltimore, is being shown to students of Allegany County Junior and high schools this week.

Lewyn C. Davis, supervisor of junior high schools, said the 30-minute film is being made available for students by the Cumberland Outdoor Club.

The first showing of the film was made yesterday afternoon at Carver High School.

It will be shown at Mt. Savage School today at 9:30 a. m.; Beall Elementary School, Frostburg, at 11 a. m. and at Beall High School at 2:10 p. m.

Allegany High School students will see the film on Wednesday at 9:30 a. m. and Fort Hill High School students at 1 p. m.

Thursday's schedule includes Barton High School at 9 a. m.; Bruce High School, Westernport, at 10:30 a. m. and Central High School, Lonaconing, at 2:10 p. m.

On Friday, it will be shown at Flintstone School at 10 a. m. and Cresapton Junior High at 1 p. m.

A public showing of the film has been scheduled at Fort Hill High Auditorium Friday at 8 p. m., sponsored by the Cumberland Outdoor Club. There is no admission charge.

The film is accompanied by a score of famous music, both classical and popular, by the Little Symphony Orchestra which sets the mood for the scenes of the beautiful gardens.

At the peak of the spring season, over 100,000 tulips may be seen in bloom at Sherwood Gardens.

"Baby Sitter" Clubs Will Be Organized Here

Youngsters To Attend Lectures

If you've been having trouble finding a baby-sitter, just be patient. The Recreation Department is working on that problem right now.

Plans were announced yesterday for formation of a "baby-sitter club" for teen-age youngsters of Cumberland.

When sufficient applicants respond, form sheets will be made up for each section of the city.

They will list the names, ages, addresses, phone numbers and experience of all available baby sitters in the North End, West Side, South Cumberland and East Side.

The form sheets will be available to parents free of charge, simply by mailing a post card to the Recreation Office at City Hall and requesting the list for a specified section of town.

City Recreation Director Edmund P. Hoey said both boys and girls may apply at his office to become members of the "baby-sitter club." No definite age limit will be set, with qualifications being the chief consideration.

At the first organization meeting of the club, rules and regulations will be drawn up.

Lectures and movies are being arranged with the aid of the local Red Cross chapter to give the youngsters training in child care. Talks will be given by a registered nurse and a psychologist.

To protect the parents, Hoey said, the Recreation Department's list of qualified baby-sitters will be checked periodically to make sure that only dependable youngsters are included.

Choice of baby-sitters will be left entirely to parents, with the form sheets providing a list of available youngsters in their neighborhoods.

Return postcards attached to the form sheets will give parents an opportunity to comment on the conduct and efficiency of the baby-sitters.

Hoey said parents will be notified through local newspapers when the lists of baby-sitters have been completed.

Youngsters interested in joining the new "club" are asked to contact the Recreation Department at City Hall immediately. They may pick up several application blanks for their friends if they wish, Hoey said.

"Parents can't take part in adult recreation programs unless someone takes care of their children," Hoey commented.

"This way, we hope to benefit both the parents and youngsters who are interested in part-time work."

Keyser To Vote On Bond Issue

The mayor and city council and Citizens Committee of Keyser, W. Va., voted last night to hold a referendum Tuesday, November 8, on a proposed $38,000 bond issue, according to Mayor John C. Freeland.

The proposed issue is to retire a 1948 issue, to raise approximately $12,000 needed to complete the Keyser Fire Hall, and to provide about $13,000 for playgrounds and a recreation program.

Town officials explain that the bond issue is a short term affair, with the indebtedness to be retired in 1950 and 1951. It will cause no increase in the present tax rate, but will merely extend the rate two more years.

The special election is expected to cost less than $1,000 and this cost is included in the issue, officials said.

Campbell Promoted By Insurance Firm

Henry W. Campbell, 307 Race Street, has been promoted to superintendent of Garrett County for the Peoples Life Insurance Company of Washington, Robert O. Collins, district manager, announced last night.

Campbell became affiliated with the firm in December, 1940, as Lonaconing agent, assigned to the Cumberland office.

Following Navy service in World War II, he was assigned as agent in the McMullen Highway area and later to the South Cumberland section.

He will be stationed in Oakland and will be in charge of five of the company's agents in Garrett County.

4-H Poultry Clinic To Be Held Friday

Specialist Invites All Interested

Persons interested in poultry raising will have an opportunity Friday to get first-hand information on the activity when Wade Rice, University of Maryland poultry specialist, comes here for a demonstration.

According to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent, Rice is coming here primarily to instruct 4-H Club boys of Allegany and Garrett counties in modern poultry breeding, culling, and laying practices. Some emphasis will be placed on raising broilers for market, Steger said. Egg grading also will be discussed.

The demonstration will be held at Ralph Ferguson's farm, Union Grove, beginning at 1 p. m. Later in the afternoon, the specialist and 4-H Club boys interested in Leghorn breed will visit John Hafer's farm, and on Saturday Rice plans to visit Garrett County if a demonstration can be arranged there.

John Lough, assistant farm agent of Garrett County, will bring a group of 4-H boys here for the demonstration.
